The house passed the bill, 296 to 46, substituted it for the measure put through by the senate yesterday, and dispatched it to conference. For a time it appeared agreement on the few differences between the two might be obtained tonight, but long senate delay in appointing its representatives put off the conference until tomorrow.

An emergency farm relief measure, intended to aid producers of wheat, cotton and hogs, was passed along to-No Part in Campaigns, Congregation Told.

Asserting that his church and pulpit will have no part in the political issues of this election year. Dr. Luther Rice Christie, pastor of Ponce de Leon Baptist church, informed his congregation this week that they should strive earnestly to be good citizens and exercises their ballot rights. The statement was made in the printed pamphlet distributed each Sunday to the congregation.

Commenting on the statement, Dr. Christie said Wednesday he was gratified to notice a tendency to keep pol-ed it.

Shortly after the weate approved the Norbeck one-year relief bill, House Leader Rainey, sponsor of a similar measure, said he would move for early action on it.

Not Optimistic.

Senate leaders, however, were not optimistic over the possibility of final congressional approval of the measure before adjournment.

The bill passed by the senate was advocated by the South Dakota republican as a stop gap while congress The statement, which was printed in that section of the pamphlet written by the pastor, called upon citizens to inform themselves as thoroughly as possible on the issues at hand and to ten by the pastor, called upon citizens to inform themselves as thoroughly as possible on the issues at hand and to use their influence and suffrage in support of the "candidates whose election, in their judgment, would be to the best interests of the whole people. These amounts would be paid in addition to whatever the commodities brought in the domestic market.

To meet the payments to the farmers, an adjustment charge of a corresponding amount would be levied on the processing of the commodity and be paid by the processor.

Still Hopeful.

House leaders still spoke hopefully of adjournment tomorrow night, but from the senate indications were for completion of the seven-monthlong session Friday or Saturday.

The senate delay came on objections to appointing conferees until the house had put the home loan bank bill, last of the administration reconstruction program measures, into conference. When an attempt by the house to do this failed, and on a ries by Senator good citizens, intelligent, alert and active.

"There will be differences of opionion, and diversity of alignment among our people," the statement continued. "We trust that these superficial differences shall, in no wise disturb the fraternal fellowship which has always been characteristic of our church. Mutual respect and consideration are basic in true democracies."

The statement continued to say that all should be such unselfish patriots as to wish for the triumph of right even if it should bring defeat to the particular "cause we may happen to spouse."

Strange Incidents Revealed In Reynolds Death Inquiry

Young Tobacco Heir WroteProphecy of Death in Family Bible Before Mysterious Ending.

BY ROBERT A. ERWIN. WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., July -(UP)-A few days before he Smith Reynolds, heir to the toco millions of Richard J. Reynolds and husband of Libby Holman, apaded to the entry of his birth in the Reynolds' family Bible a prophecy of his death.

United Press obtained a copy of the lengthy transcript of the secret sessions of the inquest into his death.

The inquest began on July S. Sessions were held secretly on that day and on the following day. On Monday it was thrown open to the press.
But until tonight what was said at those secret sessions by a procession of witnesses has remained unknown. Miss Blanche Yurka was being quetioned on July 9 when the incident of the family Bible was revealed. Her testimony read:

Q. You said yesterday that you saw Mr. Reynolds make an entry in the Bible Sunday night.

A. Not on Sunday night; that was several nights before. I think possibly it was Thursday or Friday. When I say several nights before, I mean hefore the tragedy.

Friends of the dead youth here say that on several occasions he had remarked that he was "born old" because his father was "Dorn old was maded to see the lay of the land of the bed, the grant was the because his father was "Dorn old was maded to see the lay of the land of the bed, the grant was wanted to see the lay of the land of the bed, and the was "Control of the bed, fating the head, the grant was made to be a bed, ind you and Wharton go with the product of the bed, fating the head, the grant was made to be a bed, ind you and was made to see the good of the bed, fating the head, the grant was maded to see the lay was," or state made the product bed. But the cartridge which had been ejected from the gun was on the right side of the bed. On the bed were bits of the steel jacket from the bullet. There was a hole in the screen of a porch to the left of the bed, six feet two inches from the floor. The bullet had entered the right side of Reynolds head at the temple and ranged downward, coming out a little below, and back of the left ear.

The coroner's jury and the authorities were unable to explain how the gun could be at the left of the bed; the cartridge at the right; the bits of the steel pack on the bed, and the hole in the screen porch six feet two inches from the floor if Reynolds had shot himself while standing on the left side of the bed as described in the somewhat hazy testimony of Miss Holman.

Another puzzling phase of the testimony deals with the finding of the pistol with which Reynolds was shot.

Today Scott let it be known he was still checking up on the story told by the 19-year-old Ab Walker.

The sheriff said he retraced in his automobile the route from Reynolda to the hospital here over which Walker brought the dying heir to millions with Libby accompanying them.

Driving at 40 miles an hour, he said, the trip required seven minutes.

Walker's testimony cited by Scott was that he called the hospital for an ambulance, then decided it would be quicker to take Reynolds in a private automobile and ran up stairs, picked up the wounded boy, carried him to the car, and dashed to the hospital.

Telephone records showed the ambulance call was made at 1 o'clock, the sheriff said, and the hospital recorded Smith as being entered at 1:10.

The officer asserted he was unable to understand how it would have been possible for Walker to have carried out all the activities he claimed within sideration.

A disclosure came from a member of the coroner's jury that one of the principal factors in the decision against a suicide verdict was testinony that the pistol from which the fatal bullet was fired was not found until four hours after the shooting, although the night watchman, W. E. Fulcher, declared he had made a careful search in the meantime.

The pistol was found in plain view near the door connecting Libby's bedroom with the sleeping porch on which young Reynolds was shot.

Savannah Druggist

To Mark 30th Year

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 13.—Edward J. Keiffer Sr., veteran Savannah druggist and oldest living member of the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association, will observe his 80th birthday July 27. Mr. Keiffer, who maintains a drugstore in the extreme southern section of the city, has had a busy and unique career. He became a druggist upon attaining his majority and joined the Georgia Pharmaceutical Association as soon as it was organized. He is the father of Dr. McLaws Kieffer, of Atlanta.

Dr. Keiffer was employed by Lippman Brothers, wholesale and retail druggists in Savannah many years ago when James Hamilton Lewis came from the country near Augusts to take a job with that firm. It was Mr. Kieffer who gave the present United States senator from Illinois his first bottle-washing job in Savannah. He speaks very pleasantly of the association of himself and Mr. Lewis, and when the senator was here a few months ago he and the veteran Savannahan spent a very pleasant half-hour together reviewing old times.

Charlie did stumble onto the truth when he said I ran for representative in Sumter county and didn't get enough votes to be elected. Sumter county is full of good men and all of them can't be elected at the same time.

But, in the very next paragraph, Charlie fabricates again. Here are the facts:

In 1920 I drafted the first milk powder bill ever presented to the Georgia general assembly. This bill prohibited the use of milk powders in the manufacture of whole milk seld in competition with milk produced by Georgia dairymen.

The powdered milk manufacturers of New York sent a representative to see me and sak me to withdraw the bill. I refused, In

COTTON LEADERS ASK RAILROAD RATE PLAN

RAILROAD RATE PLAN
GALVESTON, Texas, July 13.—(4)
Cotton men of the southwest, anxious to have rail cotton rates fixed before the beginning of the new season and hopeful of reaching an agreement on differences among themselves, today prevailed on railroad men holding a cotton rate hearing here to prepare a plan on rates and present it at a session of the meeting tomorrow.

The cotton men apparently agreed almost unanimously that the rates desired would allow reductions for shipments of large quantities of cotton. At present the rate on cotton is the same for any quantity.

The hearing is being held by rail tariff bodies of the southwest, with principal cotton men of the region attending. Principal disagreement among the cotton men has been over a proposal of Galveston and Houston port interests to allow a lower rate on cotton shipped without compression en route in cases where a minimum of 32.500 pounds is placed in a car. Interior cotton men opposed this strongly.

UNIFORM TRUCK CONTROL Federal control of motor trucks operated over the highways of the country, in the opinion of Frank McManamy, Interstate commerce commissioner, would be more harm- price of agricultural products reful than helpful because it would extend to only about 12 per cent of the trucks in operation and would result in numerous conflicts with state laws.

Federal Jurisdiction could extend only to common carrier and contract trucks, numbering about 450,-000, while the remaining 3,000,000 privately-owned trucks would be free from such regulation.

Commissioner McManamy agrees that common-carrier buses engaged in interstate commerce, serving regular routes, should, for the protection of the public, be subject to appropriate federal regulation, to include safety of design, maintenance of the equipment used and the number, qualifications and hours of service of employes, but feels it is doubtful "under the conditions that prevail in the industry that such regulations could be effectively accomplished." He takes the further position that even if this regulation could be put into effect on the 450,000 trucks which would be subject to the commission, it would in no wise improve the present situation because of the 3,000,000 trucks on the roads subject only to regulation by the states.

The best way in which to relieve the railroads of the unfair competi- pressant over the market. tion from unregulated highway traffic, in the opinion of this member of the interstate commerce commission, is through relieving them of the farmers of the country many any restrictions which may exist in times over as much.

McManamy says:

If railroads are given the right to supplement their service by the use of motor vehicles and the desire to ren-der complete service exists, co-ordination will follow as the day follows night. It can not be brought about by imposing on owners of motor ve-hicles the burden of obtaining federal permits and on the government the expense of issuing them.

Forty-seven states now have laws and regulations governing the use of motor vehicles. Some are effective, and many are practically useless, while all of them differ in essential requirements. Only a few of the states have adequate organizations, such as state police, to enforce these regulations.

With approximately 3,500,000 motor carriers operating over the highways of the country, there North and South Dakota, Montana should be some co-ordinated, co- and Minnesota and leaders in every operative method of control and line of endeavor in the four states. regulation by which the safety of passengers and public can be as should lend an ear to the counsel of sured, the highways built with tax men like Mr. Murphy, who has money can be protected from de- demonstrated his wisdom and forestruction, and the railroads, with sight on agricultural issues, and put their vital importance to the eco- an end to its visionary and unsucnomic situation, can be relieved of cessful efforts to accomplish what unfair and ruinous competition. cannot be done.

His Profession of Friendship Means Little If You Catch Him Burning Your Barn By Robert Quillen-

This is a warning. It warns you against an enemy that threatens the ruination of your country. It isn't an exaggeration, but a simple statement of fact.

The ordinary American, whatever his faults, is an honest man and patriot. He is proud of his country. He feels an obligation to share the solving of its problems.

In time of war or panic he thinks up schemes to save the country. His own affairs no longer seem important. He is filled with a zeal for sewrice. In short, he is a good citizen and gladly accepts the obligations of citizenship.

But this enthusiastic interest in public affairs is temporary. It ends with the emergency. And when conditions again are normal, the ordinary citizen returns to his job and his neighborhood-interests and leaves the management of public affairs to those who make it a profession.

That is the beginning of danger. The ordinary citizen, being honest and sincere, judges others by his n standards. He isn't suspicious. He isn't sensibly cautious.

And thus he is easily fooled by sinister and predatory individuals to only interest in the country is the easy money to be got from it. The predatory ones do not lose interest in public affairs when a sis is past. They take advantage of an emergency to open new paths to the public treasury, and they work quietly to keep these paths open when the emergency is over.

Treasury leaks seldom are stopped. Men who profit by them work ogether and combine their influence for mutual protection. ofessionals, somewhat scornful of mere lay citizens, and their profeson is milking the country. One-tenth of the population now lives at public expense, and this tenth is growing in power. It has learned how to intimidate congress. And it will demand more and more, until at last the nation is bankrupt, unless those who pay the bill unite to protect themselves. If an enemy nation should conquer America, in what way would the ordinary citizen suffer? He would be taxed unmercifully to pay a great indemnity. He would be punished by the foreign enemy precisely as he now is punished by leeches of his own race. Then why hesitate to call these leeches enemies? They are enemies to every property owner and wage earner, and they will bleed America white unless honest patriots unite to drive them out.

LINDBERGH SUSPECT REPORTED MURDERED

NEW YORK, July 13 .- (A)-The Sun said today it learned that Abie Wagner, supposed to have been sought in the Lindbergh kidnaping investigation, was slain two months ago, his body encased in a barrel of cement and finally sunk in the East river. He was murdered, the paper said. He was murdered, the paper as the result of a gangland decrees.

Administration Hit for Attitude Toward Use of American Materials

WASHINGTON, July 13.—(P)—
An unsuccessful attempt by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, to write into the relief bill a requirement that the government use American materials exclusively, led to sharp debate today and attacks upon the present administration on similar provisions.

Senator Connally, democrat, Texas.
Senator Connally, democrat, Texas, said he had "no faith in the fairness of the administration" to carry out such a provision, pointing to recent award by the postoffice department of a twine contract to the Luldow Sales Corporation, of Boston, handling jute cordage, instead of to a southern cotton twine manufacturer.

Senator Byrnes, democrat, South of the cordination but under the circumstances felt he had to award the contract to the lowest bid-investigated the cotton-jute dispute, but on what he had heard felt the postoffice action "was not in conformity with the spirit of congress."

The governor said that both he and Senator Glass had believed the democratic party "should be committed merely on the policy of resubmission and not either for or against repeal until the people had spoken."

Former Senator C. O'Conor Goolrick, of Fredericksburg, and James S. Barron, of Norfolk, both outspoken wets, said they were not in sympathy with the Glass resolution.

"Mr. Crisp's fourth different explanation of his reasons for taking the electric tax off of the power trusts planation of his reasons for taking the electric tax off of the power trusts and placing it on the consumer in the small homes and business houses is much better than the first three, even though it is in conflict with them. This is probably because he was assisted in writing his speech by a comanager who has represented the Tennessee Power Company as attorney. This man also must have written the portions of his speech containing the vitriolic attacks on me, for it sounds strangely like the campaign speeches he delivered against me when I was a candidate for governor two years ago and he was assisting in the managements of my opponent's campaign. However, Mr. Crisp failed to either affirm or deny his conferences with the president of the largest power concern in Georgia during the time he was changing this tax from the trusts to the public.

Instead, the bankers have suffered a liquidation hysteria complex, the president believes, and millions of dollads have been hoarded unnecessarily by these financial institutions. This feeling was reflected in the White House veto of the Wagner-Garner relief bill. Mr. Hoover felt, according to a reliable authority, that the individual loan provision of the measure would have allowed bankers to unload their frozen paper on the government. He hoped by reorganizing the corporation's board and adding another director thereto, to bring together a body of men capable of supervising the nation's financial affairs as sort of a national control board and without political bias, the United Press learned.

TALMADGE ADDRESSES BIG CROWD AT DAWSON

Fulfillment of 1926 Campaign Promises Pointed Out to 800 Hearers.

DAWSON, Ga., July 13.- Eugene Talmadge, candidate for governor, spoke to a crowd estimated at from six to eight hundred people here to day at the Terrell county courthouse, where, in his 1926 campaign for comwhere, in his 1926 campaign for commissioner of agriculture, he engaged in a debate with J. J. Brown, then commissioner of agriculture. Mr.
Talmadge called attention to the promise he made at that time that if elected he would fire the 200 oil inspectors who were costing the state $262,000 a year, and pointed out that he had fulfilled that promise.

Talmadge told his hearers that Abit Nix, one of his opponents for governor, "has spent his life in his home town representing the power company and other special interests, securing for them special concessions and franchises from his home town of Athens, Ga., and is not in sympathy with the common people."

Mr. Talmadge said: "A man of this type cannot be expected to deal with conditions such as we have today when the economic future of the state is in the balance."

He further told his hearers that "a man of this type is necessarily unfamiliar with the conditions of the farmer."

"What does he know about a man's farmer."

"What does he know about a man's farm being sold for taxes because his cotton crop will not bring enough to pay them?" Talmadge asked his audience.

Talmadge pleaded with his hearers Talmadge pleaded with his hearers to give the farmers a chance. He said: "Farmers of the state have voted for 40 years for business and professional men for governor, and it is about time that the business and professional men vote with the farmer for a farmer-governor, who knows their problems."

problems."

"This is true because the prosperity of the business and professional men is dependent upon farming being made profitable to the farmers."

In closing, Mr. Talmadge said: "Give the farmers a governor who is one of them. He can restore them and thus help the entire state."

CROWD OF 1,000 HEARS
TALMADGE AT ELLAVILLE
ELLAVILLE, Ga., July 13.—Eugene Talmadge, candidate for governor, was received here this afternoon by more than 1,000 persons, who gathered in front of the Schley county courthouse from nearly a dozen surrounding counties. Due to the inadequate size of the courthouse auditorium, Mr. Talmadge spoke from a truck on the courthouse lawn. The crowd overflowed the lawn and stood in the street, making it impossible for traffic to pass. This apparently inconvenienced no one, however, since busitraffic to pass. This apparently inconvenienced no one, however, since business was at a standstill during the course of the address. He was enthusiastically received and was frequently applauded and interrupted by encouraging shouts from his hearers. J. H. Statham, chairman of the Schley county commission, introduced Mr. Talmadge. Following his address the candidate was detained for half an hour by the crowd, who gathered about him shaking his hand and congratulating him on his speech. There was no room for doubt that he had won the support of those who had gathered to hear him.

CHARLIE YATES BATTLES TO WIN FIRST MATCH

on for a while at Capital City and the state golf

When Roby Robinson, of Druid Hills, and Pup Gordon, of Rome, completed the 18 holes all square, Robinson came to the starter's tent for the start on what was to be a record-breaking match, so far as the state tournament is concerned.

"Look at my hands," he said, "shaking as if I had the jitters. I had to finish 3-4-3 to square it and I'm all shot."

After the 23d he called a friend to walk with him. "It's terribly lonesome out here," he said. At the 25th he won. He and Gordon, both splendid golfers, set a tournament record for the longest match. The longest one a new swing." George Sargent, of East Lake, and Howard Beckett, of Capital City, were fanning on a bench near the ninth green. "For a time at Columbus," said Sargent, "the wrestlers and boxers started playing golf. They were out on the municipal courses each day. And they had some rules they made up for their own play.

"One of them was: No player shall bend over in the rough."

* * * Sargent recalled the longest shot he had ever seen by woman who could drive no more than 115 yards.

"It was at Shawnee on the Delaware," said Sargent. "The women were having a tournament. One woman in the bunch could not drive more than 115 yards. There was one hole there across a small river which demanded a carry of 125 yards.

"Her husband was caddying for her and after she had put four or five in the river he tried to do something to console her. This was in the days when they used floaters.

"The husband suggested that she hit a floater and they would then hurry down to the river where there was a boat and row after the ball and play it from the river.

"So she hit the ball and it plunked into the water just as the others had done. They hurried down and got into the boat. The stream was pretty swift and by the time they got the oars out and started the ball was well ahead of them. It was a half mile down stream before they could catch it and play it out. By that time they were in some thick woods. The lady, a pretty fair golfer, qualified with a 148."

"I recall a player at Washington," said Beckett, "who was a short driver. He could just get across a ravine we had there on one hole. He prided himself on the fact that he had never been in the ravine, which was deep and wooded.

'One day he had a guest with him. As they came to the tee at this hole, the player told of his skill there. He swung and the ball struck the head of his caddy, who was standing on the top of the ravine, and bounded back to the bottom of the

The third division offered yesterday morning a difficult problem in keeping up with the Joneses. There were six of them in that division. They, added to two more in the remaining divisions, left the tournament well spotted with representatives of the Clan of Jones.

In the third division were J. J. Jones Jr., Ben Jones, R. Tyre Jones, Dr. Ben Jones, Foute Jones and R. P. Jones. In other divisions were R. T. Jones II and Billy Jones.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 13.—(P) Swimming's "grand old man" failed in his comeback attempt today, 42-year-old Duke Kahanamoku, of Hawaii, finishing far back in the heat in which he had hoped to qualify to represent the United States in the coming Olympics.

Staking his hopes in the 100-meter free-style, he plunged into the Coney Island pool here with four others in the fourth heat of the opening day of Olympic swimming trials. He finished third—out of the running. Officials had decreed only the first two in each heat could be eligible for Olympic swimming release the could be eligible for Olympic swimming trials.

divisions were R. T. Jones II and Billy Jones.

R. Tyre Jones, of Canton, came into the ninth two down to Scottie Beverly, of Thomasville, despite the fact that Jones had a 35 for the first nine. Which was a mite discouraging.

R. Tyre's drives continue to exact their toll of gasps of amazements. He has a pair of arms which would make a wrestler envious and he seems to get all of them and his body into his drives. They go booking down the fairway so far that Beverly, on one hole, was even with Jones' drive only with his second shot.

It is the sand traps which worry the Canton player most.

Bobby Dodd, the Georgia Tech backfield coach, was perspiring around the course following some of his friends in their matches. Dean George Griffin and basketball coach, Roy Mundorff, were also out.

Coach W. A. Alexander, the only golfer in Atlanta with nerve enough to play the armless golfer who was here some time ago, sent his regrets. He left last night at 6 o'clock for California. His mother accompanied him as far as Cincinnati, where she will go on to New York to visit a daughter, who is a writer of ability, a recent serial having appeared in the Satur-

Colonel Lowry Arnold, president of the southern and state golf associations, was especially delighted with the showing made by young Tommy Barnes, of West End. Barnes won from Billy McWilliams and has a good chance to advance further in the tournament.

"I couldn't play," said Colonel Lowry, "and I think I will appoint Barnes as my proxy in the tournament. He is a fine little player and isn't afraid of anything." There were enough young players in the tournament who PITTSBURGH, July 13.—(P)— Boston's Braves tomahawked the Pittsburg. Pirates in a double upris-ing at Forbes field today, 5 to 1, and 10 to 5.

The somewhat crippled Pittsburghers never had a bance in either game, with Southpaw I'd Brandt holding them to seven hits in the first game and the veteran Tom Zachary leading the second massacre.

Meanwhile the Braves pounded hits all over the lot, driving French and Chagnon, starters, to the showers.

French lasted six innings in the first game. Bob Worthington started the run-making with a homer in the second.

second.

Pittsburgh's only run grew out of a walk to Barbee in the seventh.

The second game was a pushover for Boston. They greeted Chagnon with three hits, one a double by Berger and tallied twice. They counted two more in the second when Pinkey Hargrave smashed one into the right field stands with Moore on base.

Brame went to the mound for the Pirates in the third and Boston scored four runs on two hits, a walk and two misplays. They made two more in the seventh, but Brame finished the game.

ZAHARIAS-DUSEK

Big George Zaharias, the 230-pound Greek who meets Ernie Dusek on Henry Weber's mat card at Ponce de Leon park Tuesday night, has become in recent weeks something of a "bogey man" for the rapidly growing contingent of youngsters in the game, especially the ex-collegians.

While by no means a veteran. George has been wrestling for some years now, and his ideas are distinctly those of the old school. Nothing stirs such enthusiasm in his Hellenic and ample bosom as the opportunity to rough up, and, if possible, tear limb from limb one of the sleek-haired and handsome youngsters.

Not all the excitement by any means, however, rests in the Zaharias-Dusek encounter. Also slated to grapple for an hour and a half, best two falls out of three, are Milo Steinborn, the German Samson, and Jim Clinkstock, 220-pound Cherokee from Oklahoma. The Indian is a newcomer here, but is well and favorably known in the mat centers of the east and niidwest. At one time or another, he has met all the best men in the game, and himself. has always given good accounts of

Fish Bait Farm Leased in Georgia

BEAN, Ga., July 13 .- (A) Catering to the fickle appetites of game fish in Georgia's streams, J. H. Moseley has leased a 300-acre farm near 2here for the sole purpose of collecting July flies and selling them to fishermen for bait.

The farm, located on the old Sayannah road, is not suitable for cultivation and is overgrown with grass, dog fennel and other weeds. But it is a paradise for July flies, grasshoppers and kindred insects that may tickle the palates of bass, trout and other denizens of the brooks and rivers.

Moseley reports business is steady and will continue his fly-catching business until his lease expires in November.

Elimination of Harvey Hill, the medalist, by John Owens, captain of the University of Pennsylvania golf team, and a one-up victory by Charlie Yates, the defending champion, over Dan Sage Jr., featured the first round Wednesday in the fifteenth annual Georgia amateur golf championship on the Capital City Club course.

Yates was four up at the turn, but had to rally on the 18th green to win from young Sage, who staged a great comeback on the difficult back nine.

Owens played a consistent round to beat Hill and now ranks as one of the favorites.

Postpones Bout

A heavy downpour of rain tonight caused postponement until tomorrow night of the scheduled 15-round bout between Max Rosenbloom, recognized as light-heavyweight champion by the New York state athletic commission, and Lou Scozza, of Buffalo, for Rosenbloom's title.

BY ELWOOD LLOYD IV.

According to all the stories we have been hearing there must be a depression of some sort on—but it hasn't be there are seen traveling about the country, seeing sights and enjoying ourselves tremendously—found it cheaper, actually, to get out and take a good long vacation than it was to stay at home.

First of all the equipment for taking a traveling vacation doesn't cost much in these days of good highways everywhere. Almost any old car will deliver thousands of comfortable, happy miles if it is treated with a little consideration and not pushed too hard. Proof, we paid $20 for the equipment for truck—in which we have leisurely toured 15 states in three different countries.

At an additional cost of $17.50 for lumber, canvas and paint, we fixed a little camping body on the old truck—arranged it for comfortable travel and aleeping quarters for the three of us—Tyons. When it was finished it looked pretty alick—something like the little wagons they used to use for pedding fish. We felt we really ought to give it a tryout.

Throwing our warbag and sleeping bag and a little grub into the old hack, we set out from California for a little trip to Yuna, figuring to be gone about a week or 10 days. That was on the 12th of Fabruary, 1931—a little trip to Yuna, figuring to be gone about a week or 10 days. That was on the 12th of Fabruary, 1931—a little trip to Xuna 18 months ago. Eighteen months filled with a volume of pleasures we never before were able to purchase at such a small cost. Because we are half-Scotch, we keep as accurate daily record of everything. So we know costs to a fraction of a cent.

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 13.—I had always thought that between the Pacific ocean and the Rhine I had seen enough tenseness to last a life time. This has included almost every form of sport. But no one could appreciate what the shadow and the grip of the Olympic games mean unless he happens to be at Palo Alto this week.

I have just been out watching 255 of the picked athletes of the United States in their final workouts, By Saturday night nearly 80 per cept of the field will be eliminated and only fifty or sixty will survive to face the remaining 47 nations of the world who meet at Los Angeles later on.

The main interest here is built around the sprinters, world's record men who must soon win or lose by inches and shattered seconds.

Suppose we start with the 100-meter race. Here we have Frank Wykoff, the blond whirlwind from Southern California; Emmet Toppino, the New Orleans flyer; Ralph Metcalfe, the big, powerful runner from Marquette, the sable Simoon from the midwest; Tolan, of Michigan, another dusky flier, Hec Dyer, of Stanford, and many others.

The contrast between Wykoff and Metcalf is extreme. Wykoff is a slender, blond youth weighing 150 pounds. Metcalfe is a young colored giant, 180 pounds in weight, packing power in every move. He has the arms and chest of a Dempsey. He hasn't the fast start that Wykoff knows, but once in front there is no one here to catch him. He is a prairie fire fed by a western gale when he hits his stride.

is a prairie fire fed by a western gale when he hits his stride.

And yet in the 100-meter race I don't believe he can start fast enough

And yet in the 100-meter race I don't believe he can start fast enough to beat either Wykoff or Toppino. And I doubt that he can beat Tolan. If I had to make my guess now, Wykoff, Toppino and Tolan will be the three to qualify and it wouldn't surprise me to see Toppino win. These three should run neck and neck, beak and beak. Toppino is the fastest starter of the lot, and Tolan can handle his own in the stretch. The battle between Toppino and Wykoff should be one of the year's features. The 200-meter race will be a different story. I don't believe there is anyone llying who can beat Ralph Metcalfe over this poute.

The Marquette Tornado may not get away at top speed, but he has the combined speed, and power to crush any contender beyond the 100-meter range. And I believe Eddie Tolan will be at Metcalfe's heels—another whirl of flying ebony that will keep the white contingent crowded.

The big battle here will stretch from the 100 to the 1,500 meters.

I have just been watching Benny Eastman and Bill Carr work out and this pair will provide another feature that should be an outstanding performance of the week.

Benny Eastman looks more like a Phi Beta Kappa man than a record breaker. But this westerner can run with the wind. He has a flawless style, as smooth as satin. He has speed, stamina and courage. And yet at least half the track coaches here believe Bill Carr, of Pennsylvania, can take him again.

The debate between the east and the west on this point has passed all the international arguments at Geneva. The west is solid back of Eastman. The east stands pat on Carr. This is one of the great sporting stories. Eastman had broken three testings are the constant.

records at the quarter. Carr beat Eastman in 47 flat on a slow track. "I don't know what Eastman can do," Carr says. "I believe I can beat 47 seconds. If Ben can beat that I will have no kick."

Carr weighs only 142 pounds, but don't forget that he can run the 100 in 9 4-5, and that means. Eastman must shake him loose with an early killing pace. In wandering around the Palo Alto track I ran across Gene Venzke and Mike Sweeney. The great American miler looked to be perfectly fit.

"I never felt better," he said.

Two New Yorkers Picked; Dixie Aces Play Here Sunday.

By Ralph McGill.

By Ralph McGill.

Bryan Grant. Atlanta, and Cliff Sutter, New Orleans, two nationally-known tennis stars, who play here in an exhibition Sunday, have been selected to go with an American team to India for an exhibition tennis tour this fall, it was learned yesterday.

Grant declared that he had not yet received all the details, but that he and Sutter, together with Chick Gilpin and Eugene McCauliff, both of New York, would leave in the fall representing the United States on a tour to India, the first time an American tennis team has appeared in that country.

It is also thought that as soon as the Indian tour is completed they will go to France for the annual tournament along the Riviera. This means that Grant, who has already accepted, will not return to the University of North Carolina next fall, but will spend a year in travel.

TWO FINE PLAYERS.

Sutter and Grant are the two fin-

Sutter and Grant are the two finest tennis players the south has yet produced. Sutter helds the national intercollegiate title and the southern title. He defeated Grant in the finals of both tournaments to win those honors. In the national clay courts tournament Grant won from Sutter in the semi-finals but lost in the finals. Grant won the title in 1930. Since then both he and Sutter have been consistent threats in all tournaments entered.

Their selection on a team to represent the United States in a country where tennis was introduced by the English officers more than a century ago, and from there to go to France for tournaments in that country, is a splendid recognition of me two southern tennis stars.

Grant said yesterday that Cliff Sutter would arrive in Atlanta Saturday for his match Sunday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club courts.

Mike Sweeney, his coach and trainer from Hill school, backed him up.

"If they can beat this boy." Mike said, "they can break a record."

"How do you figure this 1,500-meter race?" I asked Venzke.

"On my own part," he said, "I never felt better. But I have some mighty good men to beat, I know Cunningham from the midwest is good, but I am looking for more trouble from Lermond, He has come along like a flash recently. I just ran three-quarters of the route in 3:06 1-5 and I think a fast pace will tell most of the story. I don't want to gamble against some of these sprinters. My idea will be to set a fast pace from the start and then see what happens. Lermond, Cunningham and Hallowell will be hard men to beat and it may take a new record to beat them. I know it will be the hardest race I have ever run."

I walked away with Boyd Comstock, coach of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

"I'll still think Venzke is the greatest miler or 1,500-meter man I ever saw, even if he is beaten," Comstock and. "He is to running what Bobby Jones is to golf. He does everything right." All Atlanta tennis fans are expected to be present to pack the stands which will be erected for the singles and doubles matches. They are sponsored by the Atlanta Junior League, which annually sponsors some sport event for the benefit of their splendid charity, a ward in the Henrietta Egleston hospital for children. The entire proceeds will go to the rehabilitation of children in the hospital. Tickets have been priced at 75 cents, a most reasonable price.

The singles match will be followed by a doubles match will be followed by a doubles match in which Grant and Billy Reese will play Sutter and Malon Courts. Courts and Reese are two of Atlanta's best players who are always threats in the state and southern tournaments. EXHIBITION HERE.

ALLSTATE

And How! Says the "Skipper"

"I haven't the least idea how many miles they had traveled when the car came into my possession a year ago last Jan-uary. But they had been around a-plenty in the sands of the desert and over the rough mountain roads. Since February 12, 1931, when we started on the present cruise, the old can has clocked off 23,276 miles, and there are plenty more miles left in the casings yet.

During the eighteen months of our cruise we have had three flat tires—twice when we picked up roofing nails, and once when we pinched a tube in putting it in. No blow-outs, thank heaven. This service is not at all surprising to me, because in the desert country of California, the Allstate tires are a favorite with the desert-rats. No other tire seems to stand up quite so well in the sand ruts which wind in and out through the brush—nearly all others give way in the side walls. Out there we don't buy Allstate tires to enjoy—we just buy them to forget."

Peachtree Property Owners Seek Injunction Against City

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 13 .-

BRITISH DELEGATION

SAILS FOR CANADA

35 Petitioners Ask Fulton ELKS REPORT SURPLUS Superior Court To Halt Dumping of Raw Sewage Into Creek.

Suit was filed Wednesday afternoon in Fulton superior court against the city of Atlanta by 35 residents and property owners living in the neighborhood of Peachtree creek to enjoin the city from dumping raw sewage into Peachtree creek.

It is said that a similar suit soon will be filed in behalf of the property owners of the South river section, beyond Lakewood park, the city's sewage disposal plant there being qually as bad as that near Peachtree creek.

The situation in the neighborhood of the South river plant has become so bad that the county health officer, Dr. W. Nevin Atkins, has officially called the attention of the county board to it, stating that unless something is done not only that community, but all of that neighboring section will be overwhelmingly threatened.

The residents and property owners in whose name the suit was filed yesterday for the purpose of stop,ing the Peachtree creek disposal plant nuisances are Mrs. S. C. Davis, S. C. Davis, T. C. Marshall, Kenyon B. Zahner, W. W. Blackmon, R. A. Kline, RRITISH DELEGATION Widespread Pollution.

Widespread Pollution. Widespread Pollution.

The petition alleges that the city is dumping great quantities of raw and untreated sewage into Peachtree creek through a sewer line east of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company tracks, as well as from Peachtree creek disposal plant, resulting in a pollution of the stream and atmosphere over a wide area in the vicinity, that is not only depriving the petitioners and other residents and property owners similarly situated of the full use and enjoyment of their property, but is enjoyment of their property, but is also creating a serious menace to the health of the community.

The waters of Peachtree creek and Tan Yard branch are so heavily laden with filth and sewage matter from the city's plant that the smell and stench city's plant that the smell and stench from it is as objectionable as the sewage and filth itself, and by reason of the sewage, filth and decaying matter being dumped in these streams, the city has created a breeding place for mosquitoes, flies and other insects and germ carriers, causing constant annoyance and fear of disease epidemics, not only to the plaintiffs and other residents of the area, but to the entire community, the petition alleges. In rainy seasons these streams swell and the nuisance becomes much greater and, furthermore, large quantities of sewage and other filth are deposited on the banks of these streams and adjacent lands, it is contended.

Returnable September 10.

Returnable September 10.

The suit further charges that, due to the growth of the city, these sewage facilities have gradually become overloaded to such a point that they are wholly inadequate to care for the present needs of the situation; that the city is actually dumping more raw sewage into the creek than the entire capacity of the disposal ylant, and that the greater portion of the raw sewage is not passed through the plant, but is directed into the stream itself through a spillway that has been constructed around the disposal plant. This condition is steadily increasing and growing worse and will continue to get worse and worse in proportion to the rapid growth of Atlanta, it is alleged. Returnable September 10.

and during this year they have appealed to the city authorities to remedy these conditions and grant the relief which is absolutely needed, but in every instance the city has refused to permanently restrain and enjoin the city from continuing to empty sewage into Peachtree creek, or into streams flowing into this creek, in a raw, untreated condition, or until it has been purified in adequate disposal

The suit was filed by Bandolph & Woodruff, as attorneys.

Ceremonies Planned for Opening Of Rebuilt Whitehall St. Viaduct

LONDON, July 13.—(P)—The British delegation to the empire conference at Ottawa, Canada, including seven cabinet ministers, left London today for Southampton to board a steamer for Quebec.

All the other members of the cabinet except Prime Minister Macdonald, whose physicians had ordered him to rest, accompanied their departing colleagues to the station.

A gala opening of the reconstructed Whitehall street viaduct at 10 of clock Saturday morning was seen Wednesday, when the Central Marietta Street Association, which will have charge of the ceremonies, announced its plans.

Opening of the rebuilt structure will be welcome news for pedestrians and motorists alike. The former have had to use a temporary walkway over the area, while automobilists have been forced to use other streets and have been caused considerable inconvenience, although the Flagler Company, contractors, have done a rush job.

Total cost of the structure was $38,000 and was furnished-through a co-operative plan between Filton county commissioners and the city of Atlanta. Each bore half the cost, although they were forced to borrow the money, John W. Grant lent the city its share, and John K. Ottley, as president of the First National bank, lent the county its part.

James D. Robinson is president of the Marietta Street Association, and will preside at the affair. Mayor James L. Key; Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the executive committee of council, will cut the red. white and blue ribbon, which will officially open the new structure and start the flow of traffic over it.

It is estimated that the budge will accommodate 100,000 daily when a sections. The old structure was built in 1901 and was until its demolition to make way for the handsome new deck-type steel and concrete viaduct, the oldest bridge in downtown Atlantanta. Each bore half the cost, although they were forced to borrow the money, John W. Grant lent the city its share, and John K. Ottley, as president of the First National bank, lent the county its part.

NEGLECT OF DUTIES LAID TO TALMADGE IN KELLEY SPEECH

DOUGLAS, Ga., July 13.—Asserting that while "the farmers of Georing that while "the farmers of Georgia have been unable to find markets for their produce and while their property is being sold for taxes," John I. Kelley charged here today that Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and another candidate for governor, "has spent a large portion of his time on various junketing trips to the Kentucky Derby, Magnolia Gardens, S. C., Washington, D. C., Chicago and other points at the expense of the taxpayers of this state.

"Like Nero of old, the present commissioner has fiddled while Rome burned," Kelley said. "Although he has been spending almost $500,000 of the taxpayers' money annually, the work of his department compares very poorly with that of other states. While Georgia has been losing in farm population, other southern states have been gaining."

He also declared that when the people of this state elected, him governor he would make every effort to so reorganize the department of agriculture that it would be an asset to the farmers of this state.

Body of 65-Year-Old Man Found Near Bench in Piedmont Park.

A verdict that S. H. Rogers, 65, of 81 Nineteenth street, N. E., killed himself with a .38-caliber revolver was returned by a coroner's jury Wednes day afternoon following the finding of the body with a bullet hole in the, head at Piedmont park shortly before noon. Police said he shot himself noon. Police said he shot himself while sitting on a park bench.

Officers were unable to identify Rogers immediately but later members of his family identified him at the funeral home of Harry G. Poole. He made his home with his daughter, Mrs. T. M. Smith.

While cleaning bottles near the bathhouse Wednesday morning, Andrew Lilly, operator of a drink stand, heard the shot and rushed to the bench to find Rogers dead. Lilly said that the suicide victim had been loitering about the park for several days and appeared to be despondent.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Harry G. Poole.

Three Cities Oppose Elimination Of Atlanta-Columbus Round Trip

A vigorous protest from Columbus. Greenville and Newnan was lodged with the Georgia public service commission Wednesday against the application of the Central of Georgia railroad to discontinue the present fast round-trip schedule from Columbus to Atlanta and return.

Opponents argued before the commission that discontinuance of two trains would isolate the territory from Atlanta and make it impossible for residents of Columbus and towns between to make a one-day business trip to Atlanta by rail.

Fred J. Robinson, general passenger agent, and Claud Baldwin, superintendent, appeared for the railroad. Columbus was represented by William De L. Worsley, acting city manager.

Reports of saving in both human and financial terms, emphasized the last meeting of the Child Welfare Association, with Mrs. W. A. Albright, president, in the chair. "And by saving the latter, we are enabled to effect a greater relief in the former, for every cent we conserve goes to providing a suitable home for another neglected or abandoned child that we could not take otherwise, making him worthy of fine citizenship and probably relieving the penal institutions of another charge."

Miss Newell told of the case of a Greek boy of seven whose father rand a restaurant and whose grandmother provided his home. The father failed in business, the grandmother was dispossessed, the boy thrown on the streets. The Child Welfare Association found a boarding home for the boy, and the father, rehabilitating himself in small part, immediately began to pay the board for the cone boy paid by his father, is able to take another child in her home. CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

BY ELY CULBERTSON. World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

When a player at the Contract table is forced to make five discards, it requires the drawing of correct inferences and the extracting every bit of information from the fall of the cards around the table in order to determine what cards to hold to defeat the contract, if that is a possibility. There is a form of squeeze which sometimes results successfully that is not a true squeeze, because the Declarer is not in possession of the eard which the defending player fears he has. This play, which often will work successfully even against strong opposition, has been given the name of the pseudo-squeeze.

nas ocen given the name of pseudo-squeeze.

An illustration of its success is recent tournament was sent me by I. H. Shelly, of Norristown, Pa. Shelly held the South cards on following hand:

The only explanation of why Dr. Shelly chose the unsafe contract of six notrump rather than the safe contract of six hearts or the speculative contract of seven hearts, which could have been made, was the possession of the honors in notrump—a mental hazard which is particularly effective in tournament play.

tournament play.

The Opening lead was the spade King, which Dr. Shelly won with the Ace, and immediately cashed seven hearts. East, who held potential entries in the diamond Queen and the club minor tenace over Dummy's Queen, was forced to make five discards. Feeling that he was compelled to defend both clubs and diamonds, he chose as two of the discards his two remaining spades, selecting as the others the diamond 3 and the club 7-2. Even with these favorable developments, the contract

In addition to the notable Culbertson articles, The Constitution will give its feaders the up-to-the-minute news of the bridge activities in Atlanta. This new department will be conducted by Whitner Cary, it will be printed Thursdays and Sundays.

Mr. Cary, who is known to readers of this paper through his work as a sports writer, is a member of the team of four which holds the Georgia state team-of-four championship and is co-holder of the southeastern mixed pairtitle. He acquired these stitles in the Georgia state and southeastern championship tournaments held in Augusta this spring.

While Mr. Cary is well versed in contract, it is not his intention to go into highly technical discussions of bidding and play. Instead this department will be well will be published which sail bridge lovers can lears what their friends and fellow bridge experts are doing. This department will be glad to receive reports on interesting bands, with the bidding and play and the names of those concerned. If they are found to be of real merit they will be published.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The pseudo-squeeze is not a true squeeze, but is a term used to designate a play where one of the opponents either through inshility to read the Declarer's holding or through inattention to the play of the cards, is unable to make the correct selection of a discard.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.

Be not confused; for the dollar there is no substitute. It is the only medium of exchange between you and the merchant. All the high-flown talk about the folly and stupidity of putting foo much emphasis on things material doesn't alter the basic fact that when you treat with the merchant across the counter you must be able to lingle the cash in your pocket. The saying consideration, then, is that you may revise downward the list of things you ask of the merchant across his counter. You may satisfy yourself with sardines where formerly you asked caviar. You may even buy a shoulder cured in the packing house where formerly you bought a ham cured by some rare method in some select smokehouse. Money is still the medium of exchange but since you have less money you bave supplemented the mopey with a careful consideration of its purchasing power, you have compared values, you have trimmed your taste with the result that the dollar goes much further than formerly. This is a very normal and necessary part of the readjustment. It is not without its compensations.

NEW YORK, July 13.—(P)—Security markets breezed through a well-sustained recovery today.

For stocks, it was the best rally in about a month. Net gains of 1 to 3 points were generously distributed. For domestic bonds the improvement was general, utility and rail loans joining another rise by United States treasuries. Wheat made moderate gains, sugar firmed again, and cotton closed $1 to $1.15 a bale higher. The supposition that the technical position of shares had been strengthened since July 1 was borne out by the rather spirited advances in a few recently weak stocks, notably utilities. American Telephone jumped about 2. Case, Corn Products and American Tobacco "B" were equally strong. United States Steel preferred rose 37-8s. Transactions amounted to 977.619 shares, largest turnover since June 15.

Speculators for the rise received encouragement from several sources. Adjournment of congress, it appeared, would not be much longer delayed and the market was plainly in a mood to anticipate that event.

Trade news was hardly inspiring. Iron Age said the steel business "must look first for constructive developments outside their own immediate province for the stimulation of confidence necessary to recovery.'

Auburn Auto reported a deficit for the second quarter and the stock had an early dip of more than 4 points in response, although it eventually made full recovery. 11 Baldwin Loc .

NEW YORK. July 13.—(P)—Cotton rallied sharply today after a slight early decline. October contracts rose, from 5.60 to 5.88 and closed at the best, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 20 to 30 points.

The opening was 4 to 7 points lower partly promoted by continued good weather in the south.

The weekly report of the weather bureau failed to stimulate the market either way. There was little or no southern gelling and contracts became comparatively scarce by early afternoon. July went from 5.76 to 6.04. Closing quotations were the best of the day on most positions.

It was thought that some of the later buying might have been encouraged by a more favorable view of the European political news. Liverpool cables reported hedging and liquidation on the favorable weather in that market. Exports today 7.236, making 8,546,647 so far this season. Port receiples 1,338. United States stocks 3,523,508.

NEW YORK. July 13.—There has been a decided improvement in public psychology in the last 48 hours. We attribute this primarily, as explained in detail in yestern day's letter, to the successful passing of the important haliway mark of the calendar year with its aftendant call by the comptroller of currency and the various state superintendents of banks of bank condition statements as of June 30. The passing of this date, we believe, marks the culmination of necessitous collateral loan liquidation. There are other factors, however, which also have bearing on the situation and we list these as follows:

1. The settlement of the reparations problem at Lausament of the reparations problem at Lausament has definitely prevented an economic and political collapse in the central states of Europe.

2. The rise in commodities, although still spotty, has given a slight impetus to trade.

3. The so-called bond pool with resources of over $100,000.000 has thrown its weight on the constructive side of the security market. NEW YORK.

Sharp Reduction Reported In Georgia's Various Crops

for the low peach crop.

Tobacco acreage is reported generally short because of a late freeze which caused an acute shortage of plants, and a reduced use of fertilizer.

Columbus said crops in that section were in excellent condition, the recent rains proving a boon to vegetable crops, although deterring growth of cotton, which is at least two weeks late.

tte. Greater diversification of crops is sale Greater diversification of crops is reported in that section, as well as throughout the state generally. Although prices for these "side crops" are much lower than in former years, they are reported in fair to good demand. Columbus said the outlook for the sweet potato crop is excellent and the acreage the largest in history.

Waycross said farmers in Ware and surrounding counties were stressing the live-at-home idea to a greater extent than ever, and that several co-operative organizations had been formed in that section to market the strops.

The tobacco crop in the Waycross vicinity will be sharply reduced, with Ware county reporting a reduction of up to 20 per cent. Cotton acreage is also reduced there, with corn acreage on a par with last year, and corn fields in the best condition of any crop.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Sharply reduced cotton, watermelon, peach and tobacco crops, but a great increase in diversified farming were increased. We deceased in reports from various sections of the same number of bales as 1931, and a heavy sweet potate crop in years due to problems brought on any weather and economic conditions.

For one thing, the boll weevil infestation this year is reported unusually heavy, less fertilizer has been used, and, in addition, there is a 14 per cent reduction in acreage.

The watermelon crop, now moving to market, also is to be very short. As an indication, the state bureau of markets reported 5,050 cars moved through July 8, compared with 7,133 cars to the same date last year. Heavy rains, especially in southwest feorgia, curtailed the crop, said A. D. Jones, director of the market bureau.

Georgia peach shipments through noon of July 9, totaled 515 cars, as compared with 2,204 cars for the same period last year. Mr. Jones says the peach crop will be one of the shortest since 1907. In the past 14 years, the smallest crop was 5,298 cars in 1929, whereas Mr. Jones setimates this year's crop will total less than 2,500 cars.

A mild winter and a cool spring, the same thing that brought on a heavy boll weevil crops, are blamed for the low peach crop.

Tobacco acreage is reported generally short because of a late freeze which caused an acute shortage of plants. Although the yield of truck crops has been large, the crops, on the whole, have not brought very good prices, Valdosta advised. An egg marketing association has been formed at Valdosta, and eggs are candled, graded and sold under standardized brands in all Valdosta groceries.

Macon advised heavy weevil infestation in cotton and a lack of funds among farmers for extensive poisoning activity would cut the cotton yield in Bibb county. Corn was reported doing well and a good crop in prospect; green vegetables available in quantities, except turnips and snap beans; certain truck crops glutting the market, especially tomatoes, cucumbers and cautaloupes. Extensive canning activity is under way in Bibb county to save the large vegetable crop for winter use. Farmers there are raising more food and feed crops than ever before. A good sweet potato crop is expected.

Savannah reported good vegetable of spring wheat.

"Watermelon shipments have not been enhitiely satisfactory." the Savannah s, message on conditions there said. In addition to marketing organizations and facilities already formed, the Georgia Bankers' Association is sponsoring, jointly with the State College of Agriculture and the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the organization of marketing and processing facilities in numerous points over the state. The best hog crop in history was reported from Valdosta, which said there are about 25,000 hogs in Lowndes county, compared to 20,000 last year. The tobacco crop in that section will not be more than 25 per section of the state.

The idea.

With Georgia's cotton acreage on July 1 estimated at 2,969,000 acres, compared with 3,452,000 acres in 1931 and 3.863,000 in 1930, a greater variety of crops, especially food and feed crops, has been produced. Estensive exertion will not be more than 25 per section of the state.

CHICAGO. July 13.—The shock of the government report was apparently fully absorbed yesterday, especially shroad as Liverpool wheat cables showed a strong reversal and with the help of a much better sock market we were sbie to absorb increased hedging sales and establish a fair advance for the day. A very strong corn market was an additional help to wheat and the most encouraging feature was relative firmness of July delivery. Crop reports from northwest were rather mixed being particularly good for rather mixed being particularly good for Red River valley while morthers North Dakota claimed some deterioration as effects of earlier dry weather. We think that all bearish news is fully reflected in prices now prevailing and that any unfavorable condition will cause an advance. NEW YORK, July 13.—(P)—The country's steel operating rate has recovered to 16 per cent of capacity from the record low level of 12 per cent in the previous week, Iron Age said today. The rebound was due to resumption of some steel plants that were shut down during the July 4 holiday week.

Buying of steel products, however, shows no improvement and mills are subsisting on small day-to-day orders which partly reflect the seasonal duliness of the industry, the review stated.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The prospect that congress will adjourn withing 48 hours largely accounted for the substantial improvement in the stock market today. Firmness in commodity prices and less selling pressure, due to drying up of necessitous liquidation, also helped.

Big professional bears were reported taking advantage of the higher level of quotations by putting out additional short lines of stocks. and the adjournment of congress is expected further to stimulate buying.

pany and the American Mutual Liability of Boston.

Members of the board of directors are Mr. Powell, B. Graham West, Horace Russell, Willis A. Sutton, Dr. Dan Y. Sage, Jere Wells, Dr. J. R. Barfield, John A. Copeland and William J. Hammond.

Discouraging statements of earnings for the second quarter of this year and dividend reductions were ignored. Western Union issued an unfavorable statement of earnings for the first six months, but the stock participated in the general upward frend. frend.
Continental Can directors reduced

Continental Can directors reduced the dividend from $2.50 a share annually to $2, but the stock showed improvement in price. Auburn Auto's statement of earnings for the second quarter showed a deficit but the stock closed a shade higher.

The so-called pivotal stocks led the market to higher levels and the ease with which quotations moved upward in the afternoon indicated that little stock was being encountered.

TARZAN THE UNTAMED No. 22

Tarzan came suddenly upon Horta, the boar, run-ning ahead of him. Being hungry, he made a quick kill. As he was gnawing the last morsel from a bone, his quick ears caught the sound of stealthy padded feet.

Turning, he confronted Dango, the hyens, sneaking upon him. The beast circled hungrily about, waiting an opportunity to charge. Tarsan kept a watchful eye on him, meanwhile unslinging his war-spear, ready for instant ase.

Being jungle bred, the ape-man was ready to pro-tect his kill against all comers. "Go away, eater of carrion!" he growled and hurled a stone at the beast, which was sparling and coming closer. Dange would have charged sooner but for —the savage growls of the ape-man. Coming from human lips, these raised a question and a fear in the beast. Now, having eaten his fill, Tarzan rose and started again toward the Reds' camp. Suddenly the hungry hyena charged.
